

When the Sun Comes up in Africa

When the sun comes up in Africa, the gazelle awakes, and he knows that if he does not run as fast as he can that day, he will be caught and he will die.

And when the sun comes up in Africa, the lion awakes, and he knows that if he does not run as fast as he can that day, he will not catch his prey and he will die.

So when the sun comes up in Africa, it doesn't matter if you're the lion or the gazelle...

You just better be runnin'!!
